Role: Australasia Coordinator
Duration: Minimum 12 months
Hours: 5-8 hours per week
Type: Voluntary

What are we looking for?

- An emerging leader who is interested in curating and building capacity in the Australasia region to help deliver NCDFREE's strategic vision and objectives.
- Keen interest in communicating and advocating the topics of non communicable disease in global health to a wide variety of audiences - specifically young professionals and students.
- Versatile, open minded team player who is willing to go that extra mile in working flexible hours across time zones.
- Strong communicator who is willing to receive and provide mentorship to the leaders of tomorrow.
- Fluent in English and hold (or in the process of finishing) a Masters degree in public/global health, communications, environmental science, sustainability, or other relevant course.

What do we expect from you?

- Willingness to represent NCDFREE at the regional and international level with supported travel when required.
- Curate and develop a regional team of individuals in supporting the delivery of a range of events, producing films and assisting international activites around the UNGA 3rd High Level Meeting on NCDs.
- Maintain existing and develop new relationships in the aim of promoting the work of NCDFREE and exploring opportunities for cross collaboration.
- Contribute to the NCDFREE Global Team in providing regular input on Slack and attending monthly meetings.
- Be professional, organised, sociable and friendly.

What can you expect from us?

- Become part of a dynamic, innovative international team leading a youth led start up striving for social change on the global level.
- A flexible online working environment and scope to tailor role.
- Share your voice, develop new and existing skills, and enhance your employability on a well respected innovative international platform.
- Office space in Melbourne at Klover's Social Hub with other social impact organisations.
- Connect with NCDFREE mentors and leading global health stakeholders in health, academia, art, technology, communications, law, marketing and more.
- Access to established leaders (individuals & organisations) in the global health space.

Application deadline is April 2nd, 2018, however we reserve the right to close the position before the deadline if a suitable candidate is found. To apply, send CV, and cover letter in English to hello@ncdfree.org. If you have any questions, please contact jack@ncdfree.org.
